Corporate Profile

Translation

Human Translation

KI's human translation service is incredibly high quality, having been honed and refined for over 30 years. If you want true peace of mind when dealing with translations that require a high degree of accuracy and expertise, this is what you are looking for.

Machine Translation (inc. Post-editing)

If you're on a tight budget or deadline, then machine translation is an effective solution. KI can provide the optimum solution to fit your needs, offering support for the implementation of automatic translation using Google or Microsoft products, the sale of a range of translation engines, and even linking with translation support tools. We even offer a post-editing service for projects where you need a higher quality than what can be provided by machine translation alone.

KI provides a variety of machine translation solutions.

- ▶ XMAT - machine assisted translation platform
- ▶ Kawamura NMT powered by NICT - a made-in-Japan machine translation engine
- ▶ Translation Designer - browser-based translation platform

Quality

KI promotes an idea of Total Quality Management (TQM).

We believe that quality isn't simply limited to providing an accurate translation, but that true quality also includes the overall process and communication, as well.

Evaluation system development

A system for continuous improvement that aims to reduce errors in translation to zero.

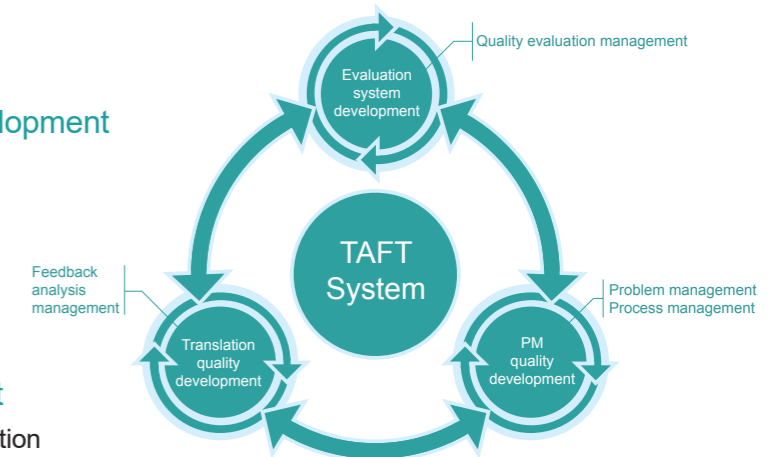

Translation quality development

A tool that incorporates customer needs and requests into translation specifications.

PM quality development

A framework for the optimization of project management quality.
